

PR Services for Startups

Tap into the expertise of a 30-year veteran to get your startup noticed by the people who matter.

- With clear, compelling messaging
- The right, targeted news distribution
- And focused media reachout

Trust your company's next big news announcement to an accomplished communications pro with a strong track record helping startups and emerging companies succeed.

Graeme Thickins founded GT&A more than three decades ago to exclusively serve startups with branding, marketing, and communications strategy services. He's since helped more than 200 startups launch and achieve significant growth. He's available to help you:

- By project (as little as 15 hours) for one-time or stand-alone news announcements.
- Or retainer engagement (of 3-6 months) for more focused programs requiring planning, research, identification of influencers and media targets, more extensive content development, blogging and social media services, and ongoing PR execution.

Reasonable rates. Fast, efficient service. Startup mentality.

To get started, or for work examples, please email graeme@gtamarketing.com or call 612-867-4055 today.

